Center for Student Access and Success
The mission of the Center for Student Access and Success is to expand access to the university for all underrepresented groups with a focus on first generation and lower-income students and to create and infrastructure and university wide strategic initiatives, which enables students to have an enriching and successful Lehigh University experience.
Who Are F1RST+?

● F1RST+ Students
  ○ First Generation
  ○ low income
  ○ underrepresented minority groups

The University has recognized the need to support our F1RST+ Students through the creation of the Center for Student Access and Success.
A first-generation college student is a student whose parents or guardian did not complete a four-year college degree.

We internally expand that definition, recognizing the need for support for students.

General Tips

○ See students as having a wealth of Assets, not coming with a lot of deficits
○ Avoid making assumptions
  ■ lead with connection building
  ■ open ended questions
    ● "Tell me about yourself"
    ● "How can I help you in this situation or in general?"
○ Avoid “talking down” to students
○ Get to know your students and identify their needs without always asking directly
○ Be informative, share what you know and direct them to someone who CAN provide that information that you are not aware of.
○ Offer them yourself as someone then can reach out to
○ Be genuinely curious, caring, open
○ Check in with students about their needs. Make sure to follow up even if the student does not mention it again.
Martha is starting to feel overwhelmed with her course load. She was confident about taking a high level calculus class because she always did well in her math classes. She is afraid to ask for help because she feels that her classmates are not having the same challenges.

Salomon has shared that his family is having a hard time adjusting to him moving across country for college. He is starting to feel guilty for attending Lehigh because it is far from his family and is considering transferring to a school closer to home where he can commute.

Paul has just received the news that his older sister has been in a car accident and is in critical condition. He wants to be able to go back home and be there with his mother and younger brother, but does not have the financial means to do so.
